STEAMING

Six women from diverse backgrounds meet on 'ladies day' in a London bathhouse where they share the most intimate details of their lives, loves, dreams and frustrations. Steaming is the heart-warming, ribald classic play by Nell Dunn.

The show is known for its razor-sharp, acerbic dialogue and YES, its nudity.

This play can be considered controversial because of the nudity but it's so much more than that – it's about friendship, finding your place in the world and fighting for what you believe in.

Set in an old Turkish bath somewhere in the East End of London, six very different women bare their bodies, souls and fantasies.

Steaming is a warm-hearted, often humorous portrayal of women coming to know each other when they realise their 'sanctuary', their little bit of luxury, is about to be demolished by penny-pinching, self-aggrandising bureaucrats, they must unite to 'SAVE THE BATHS'

Starring VAL LEHMAN as Mrs Meadow and ALLI POPE as Josie
